

APPUNTI PER UN LESSICO SPAZIALE #23

Video installation, 2011, 2 diptyches running simultaneously and 1 sound, 3'32", edition of 5 + 2AP.

We see the light of a star, of events we do have memories. "Notes for a stellar vocabulary # 23" is a biography of an attempted suicide. It is a request for that biography to be made and the need for it to be seen. The protagonists are: Diego Reghellin, the biographer Nicola Bettale and all the looks that the work will have. All raw images to create this retroactive horoscope have been taken from Stellarium, an open source software on the Net that allows to explore galaxies.

No words to describe events, but rather views of the sky, localized in space and time. "Notes for a stellar vocabulary # 23" is a visual narrative across past and present that cannot reveal its meaning unless you know it but which goes in all directions like a spyral and tells its own birth and look.
